

Liquan Zhao <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-9499-1911>

He is an assistant professor at Northeast Electric Power University, China. He received his Ph.D. degree in college of information and communication from Harbin Engineering University in 2009. His current research interests include wireless sensor networks and blind source separation.

Yan Long <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-4425-7230>

She received her Bachelor's degree at Shandong Business and Technology University in 2014. She is now an assistant engineer in Beijing Smartchip Microelectronics Technology Company Limited, Beijing. She is interest in the recognition of multiple power quality disturbance.